GRIN Verlag Dez 2012, 2012. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 210x148x12 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Master's Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Pedagogy - Adult Education, grade: 1,0, University of Duisburg-Essen (Institut für Berufs- und Weiterbildung), language: English, abstract: Learning is recognised by policy-makers, researchers and practitioners as one of the most important assets of the 21st century and is reflected in the concept of lifelong learning. It is typically attributed by characteristics such as having positive effects on mental health, helping learners to emancipate as well as being empowering and sustainable. It is also commonly understood that learning experiences shape and affect people's life, from young to old, and is therefore closely intertwined with their biography. The concept of lifelong learning promotes learning mostly in economic terms and therefore aims at strengthening its influence on people's life by promoting lifelong and lifewide learning activities. From this economic perspective, older learners in post-work do not directly fall into the scope of lifelong learning activities. However, due to the worldwide phenomenon of ageing populations the economic perspective of learning needs to be extended to include a social and cultural...
