Free Association Books, United Kingdom, 2005. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 155 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Presenting the key concept of ovular space as opposed to rectilinear spatial concepts as a new paradigm for social analysis, the authors put forward a wide-ranging social and cultural critique based on a utopian vision of a new social organization. They argue for a reversal of the masculinism that has predominated throughout human history to date. They analyse the origins and structures of this predominant cultural form and describe phenomena that indicate that this pattern is shifting with changes in gender roles. They emphasize that their approach is not biologicistic or essentialist and that their argument is based on the psychosocial reaction to biological fact. Their argument is based on a fundamental opposition between formal-rational thinking, prototypical of the male mind and female, ovular thinking, expressing itself in empathy , which they regard as a key component of social change in contemporary society. The book is divided into two parts, the first of which is entitled Space representation and the construction of social reality . This part addresses (1) Mind and space , (2) Gender difference in space representation , (3) Prestige and violence , (4) Religion, destructiveness, territory , (5) Thought and sex , (6) Public power as male structure , (7) Geometry and the law , (8) Ovular space-representation, women and family , (9) The family as political cell: for a re-establishment of public life and (10) Gender equality: a prerequisite for the defeat of capitalism: towards forms of associate federalism . Part 2, entitled Towards a new viewpoint , addresses the implications of this new perspective for various fields of thought: political science, psychology, sociology, historiography, economics, demography and social ethics. These chapters discuss the problems relating...
