Inasmuch as not only the apportionment of legislative districts is dependent in the Philippine Islands upon population, but the distribution of internal-revenue tax is also dependent thereon, the importance of such a new census is apparent. Act No. 2380, providing for the inspection, grading, and baling of Manila hemp and other fibers, is of great importance. Manila hemp was gradually losing its long-established place in the fiber world, owing to the unequal grading of the different export houses in the Philippines. By the present act the government establishes the grades and is responsible for the proper marking of the bales. For the services rendered a small charge is made, not sufficient in any way to increase the price of the hemp, but sufficient to cover the expense to which the government is put. Act No. 2427 brings into effect in the Philippine Islands the provisions of law covering insurance business which have been found necessary and advisable throughout the United States. Act No. 2432, amending the internal-revenue law and imposing increased and additional taxes, was primarily for the purpose of securing to the insular government additional revenue required, owing to the falling off of customs receipts due to the disturbances caused by the European war. This act was later approved by an act of the Congress of the United States, which recognized the necessity to the Philippine government of the additional revenues. Act No. 2451, amending Act No. 1118 by providing that all timber cut in...
